

Issue: Email System Logi Issue

The incident pertains to an issue with the email system identified as Logi. The problem has been noted but lacks a detailed description.

Steps to Resolve:

- Acknowledge the incident and assign it to the appropriate team.
- Review the work notes for any previous troubleshooting steps taken.
- Gather logs from the email system to identify any errors or anomalies.
- Check the configuration settings of the Logi email system.
- Verify if there are any known issues or updates related to the Logi system.
- Consult with the System Administrator for insights on the issue.
- Attempt to replicate the issue in a controlled environment.
- Document any findings and potential causes of the issue.
- Propose a fix or workaround based on the analysis.
- Communicate the resolution steps to the affected users and close the incident.

Technical Details:

The incident is categorized under Software with a subcategory of Email. The incident was opened on 2025-09-25 21:19:26 and is currently in a New state. The logs indicate a recurring issue with the Logi system, but specific error messages have not been detailed. The incident has been reassigned twice and has a priority level of 4 - Low.

Complete Description:

The incident (INC0010002) involves a Logi issue within the email system. The technical details reveal that the incident is categorized as a Software Bug with a medium impact. The work notes indicate ongoing efforts to resolve the issue, but no specific resolution has been documented yet. Recommended actions include gathering logs, checking configurations, and consulting with the System Administrator to identify a resolution.